Chamber mum after members table task force proposal from Board of Directors

By MICHAEL DANIELS

A vote that Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Executive Director Robin Zinchuk had termed a "crossroads" for the future of the chamber ended up going nowhere last week.

The chamber board of directors had sought a yes vote on a proposal to establish a task force to study the community's economic options, but at the end of a lengthy but inconclusive membership meeting Wednesday evening, the proposal was tabled.

Zinchuk attributed the outcome to "some confusion and discomfort with the ambiguity of the item to be voted on."

And both Zinchuk and Bill White, president of the organization's board of directors are refusing, for the moment at least, to comment further — either on the meeting itself, or on what effect, if any, the disappointing outcome may have on the future direction of the chamber.

"It has been determined that we wait until the Chamber Executive Committee meets (Thursday, Sept. 7) before we will want to make any further comments on the Membership Meeting or its outcomes," Zinchuk wrote in a follow-up e-mail.

'I think that tabling the vote was the best possible outcome for those of us in favor of voting no.'

Prompted by petition

Sixty-five of the chamber's approximately 250 members turned out for Wednesday's meeting, which had been called in response to a petition challenging the organization's exploration of economic development initiatives such as the National Scenic Byway campaign, the Mahoosuc Regional Resource Report, and discussion of seeking a Maine Mountain National Heritage Area designation for western Maine.

Fewer new subdivisions being proposed in Bethel

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The lights were out last Wednesday evening in the Bethel Town Office meeting room — a sign of changing times in the local real estate market.

In August 2004, the Bethel Planning Board held two meetings, and at each the planners worked on a half dozen active subdivision applications, plus the usual variety of other matters.

The following August, 2005, they also held two meetings, each with five subdivision applications on the agenda.

But this year things were a bit different.

The planners met on Aug. 9, and signed off on three completed applications, but there were no active applications to consider.

And the second August meeting, scheduled for last Wednesday, was cancelled — there were no agenda items for the planners to take up.

"Not even a sign application," said planning assistant Sarah Tucker.

Peak in 2005

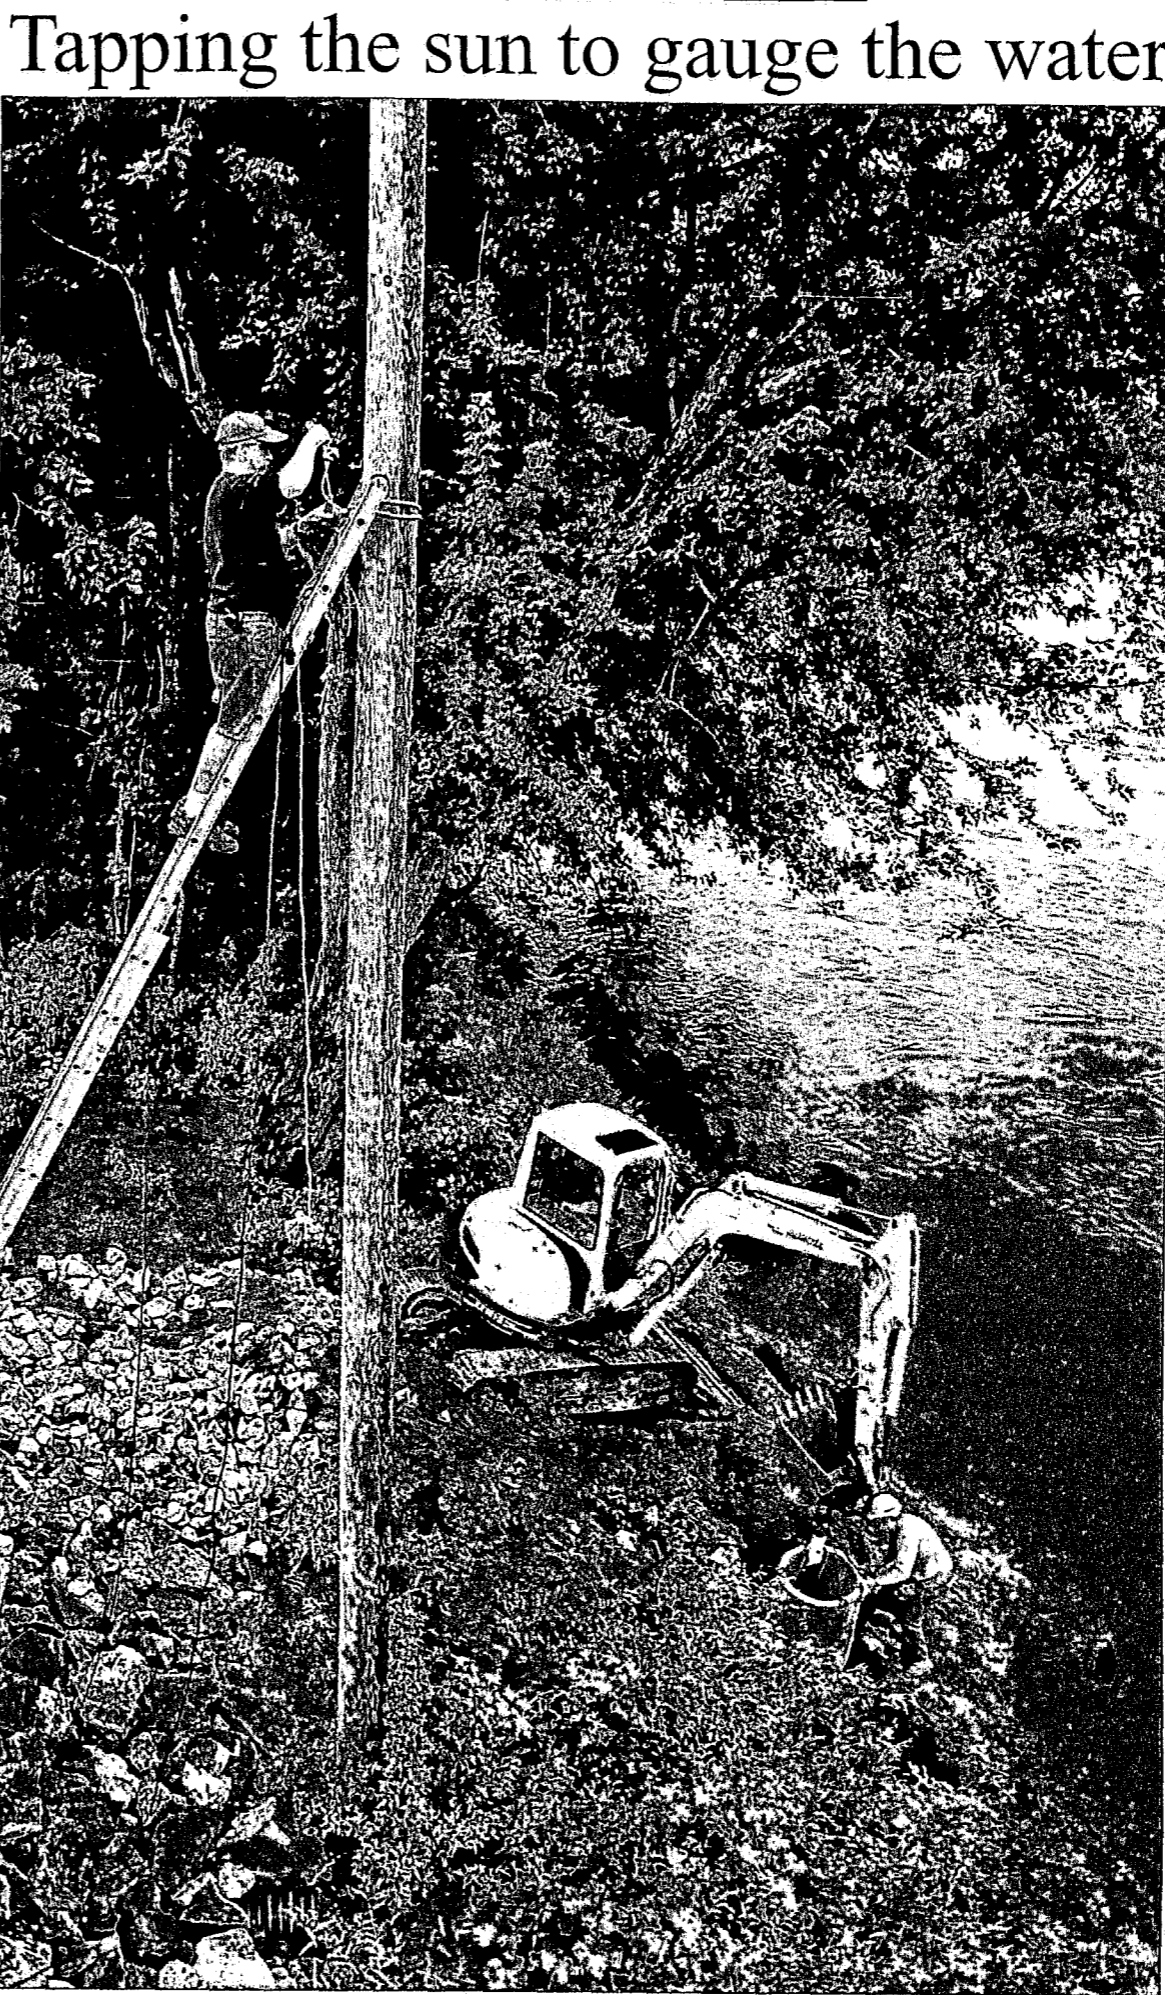

In Bethel at least, the wave of subdividing that began swelling near the turn of the new century appears to be receding.

In 2002 the Bethel Planning Board approved 22 subdivision lots.

The same number were approved in 2003, but in 2004 the number of approved lots nearly tripled, to 64.

In 2005 a record 113 lots were

A sensor to monitor water levels in the Androscoggin River was installed this week next to the recreational bridge in Bethel. The electronic device will automatically alert the Oxford County Regional Communications Center in South Paris if the water rises to a set level indicative of flooding, and, after the initial alert, will provide continuous information on water levels. The monitor can also assist personnel at the Shelburne Dam in New Hampshire as they decide how much water to release through the dam, and provide information for state river monitoring agencies, according to Scott Parker, Emergency Management Agency director for Oxford County. Similar devices are being installed in Canton and Rumford. The funding for the monitors is provided through the Department of Homeland Security. Here, contractor Bruce Korhonen uses his excavator to position the monitor on the riverbank, while an employee of Marine Wiring and Electronics sets up wiring on a nearby pole. The monitor will be solar powered. (Photo: A. Aloisio)

WES tops in latest MEA tests

By ALISON ALOISIO

Performances by SAD44 schools on last year's MEA tests were mixed, with the best results turned in by the Woodstock Elementary School.

The past year was the first for which students in each grade from three to eight were tested. In previous years, the test was given to only fourth-, eighth-, and 11th-graders.

"We finally have the data we've been asking for for many years," Superintendent Dave Murphy told the School Board last week.

The expanded testing will allow teachers to track individual students from year to year, he said.

The standards for the current tests have been altered somewhat, so this year's results cannot be compared to previous years, said Murphy.

Individual student scores in each subject area tested are placed in one of four categories: does not meet standards, partially meets standards, meets standards or exceeds standards.

Murphy reminded directors that with small schools, particularly the size of Woodstock and Andover, results can fluctuate significantly between successive classes.

Curriculum coordinator Lee Graham presented details of the 2006 reading, math and science testing, comparing them to statewide averages.

WES

"Woodstock Elementary School made strong gains, some of the best in the district," said Graham.

Seventy-nine percent of Woodstock third-graders met the reading standard, compared to 62 percent statewide. Eighty-six percent of them met or exceeded the math standard, compared to 58 percent statewide.

In Grade Four, 89 percent met or exceeded in reading, compared to 61 percent statewide, and 100 percent met or exceeded in math, compared to 59 percent statewide. In science, 56 percent met the standards (none exceeded), compared to 57 percent statewide meeting or exceeding.

Among fifth-graders, 81 percent met the reading standard (none exceeded), while 58 per-

Offering alternative help for autistic kids around the world

By ALISON ALOISIO

Two years ago, Amy Yasko of Bethel, an alternative healthcare consultant, was working with a girl who had a chronic bowel inflammation. Yasko, a Ph.D., was using natural herbs and supplements with the child.

Unknown to Yasko at the time, the girl was autistic.

The child's digestive condition improved, but there was an unexpected development.

"As we healed the gut problem, her language improved," said Yasko.

It was her introduction to autism.

Since then, helping autistic children through alternative methods has become her primary professional focus. To date, mostly through the Internet, she's had contact with about 2,300 children and their families.

Yasko has also written books, made presentations at conferences, and worked with other alternative treatment researchers or practitioners.

Finding connections

The symptoms of autism include repetitive behaviors, language problems and difficulty relating socially.

Traditional treatment calls for a combination of behavioral therapy and medication.

What, then, is the connection between treating a bowel condition with herbal supplements and improving the language skills of an autistic child?

Yasko believes that a variety of factors acting in combination can cause autism. Among them: the presence of toxic metals in the system, chronic infection, vaccines, excitotoxins (such as MSG) and, of course, the child's genetic background.

In the case of the autistic girl, said Yasko, a chronic infection may have made the child's body retain more metals, creating the autistic symptoms.

So by alleviating the bowel inflammation, the retention of metals declined and the girl's language problems improved, Yasko said.

Yasko, who has used her alternative methods on other conditions including Parkinson's disease, multiple sclerosis and Alzheimer's, believes that for a child to have autism, many things must go

'SELF-SERVING'? HARDLY

To the Editor:

I was surprised to read in last week's letter to the editor by Mr. Seabury Lyon that my defense of the rights of all private property owners is somehow self-serving. To my knowledge I have never met the man, so I find it intriguing that he feels he knows enough about my business or personal situation to arrive at his conclusion.

I was pleased that he said that statements in my letter (as well as the two other letters) conjured up "visions of blizzards of regulation, impenetrable layers of bureaucracy and sinister strings attached that threaten us with who knows what." Apparently our letters accurately relayed our concerns.

Unlike Mr. Lyon I have confidence that Bethel folks are capable and competent to manage their own land. They have done so for a long, long time and have created this community we all value greatly. I am sorry if Mr. Lyon is offended that I do not have confidence in placing the future of my property in the hands of him and others like him that feel they have the right and ability to govern for all.

As far as the timing of our letters I would suggest that in the future if Mr. Seabury Lyon feels as passionately about a subject as we do that he become proactive rather than reactive.

NEXT: INFORMAL, CORDIAL CHATS

To the Editor:

I attended the Chamber meeting last Wednesday and was impressed by the tone of the discussion facilitated by Dutch Dresser. Attended by over 60 members, the meeting aired views by a wide slice of area business, all expressing themselves admirably, just the way it should be.

The meeting pointed to a major source of difficulty our community faces as we steer our course to a secure and happy future: "failure to communicate." A good place to start work on that would be to share our visions of the future. That would dissolve misunderstandings and prevent escalating frustration.

I'll start:

a.) I am pro development. The alternative is stagnation and economic death. What I'm against is careless, irresponsible development that leads to the kinds of mistakes many of us have seen in our travels, even if only just down the street.

b.) I don't want any more regulations than are required to preserve what our community holds dear.

c.) We can benefit from affiliations with various development or conservation organizations and can control the degree to which we participate in their particular objectives.

After years of arduous introspection and meetings, our Comprehensive Plan was published just seven years ago and is a good snapshot of who we are and who we want to be (available at our Town Office). It is easy re-reading and the quality of the work is outstanding. Important factors were identified that bear directly on our current issue. I'm referring especially to Sec. 2, pgs. 8, 9 and 10 dealing with "Outdoor Recreation" and "Natural Resources."

Many home/land owners in the greater Bethel area contributed to that plan, business owners or not, chamber members or not and every one of us has a vital interest in being familiar with it. We also have the right and responsibility to evaluate how proposed projects harmonize with it and to vote accordingly.

The conservation organizations mentioned last week have a wealth of experience that can help to make sound long-term development plans. It would be irresponsible not to get all the help we need. A lot is at stake for all of us.

May I suggest a series of informal and cordial chats to help pave the way forward?

BALANCE REQUIRES THOUGHT

To the Editor:

I am responding to the letters and comments related to the Chamber's involvement in the Mahoosuc Initiative, Scenic Byway, and the Heritage designation.

I have lived in this community for close to 30 years. I have watched it grow and I have watched other communities grow (e.g., North Conway). I am very clear that I do not want our community to become anything like North Conway.

I do not know all the details but I do know that I want a balance between people being able to have livelihoods related to the environment and yet also protect the beauty and ecological balance of the environment.

This is my understanding of what sustainable development is. To find that balance requires significant thought and reflection as to how to satisfy both needs.

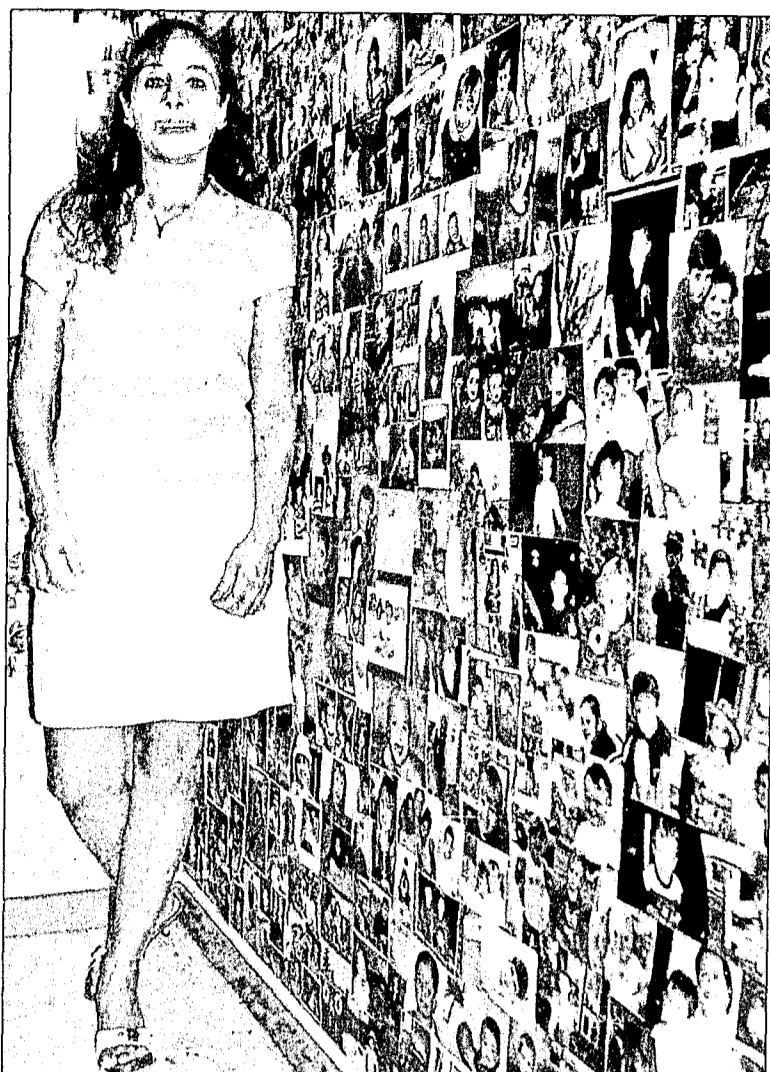

I am glad this conversation and people's concerns are being brought out and discussed.

I believe that the wisdom of people of our community will thoughtfully and respectfully reach agreements that both protect our land and provide livelihoods for those of us that are committed to living here.

Autism

wrong biologically at the same time.

In her book, "The Puzzle of Autism," she uses the analogy of the death of Britain's Princess Diana in a car crash.

"If the car hadn't been speeding, if the driver hadn't been drinking, if the paparazzi weren't chasing the car.... Eliminate any one of those factors and the tragedy might have been averted. The multitude of factors that must occur to create the condition we call 'autism' can be viewed in a similar fashion."

The frequency of autism has been increasing in recent years, said Yasko, lending support to her belief that environmental factors play a role. "It went from one in 10,000 to one in 150," she said.

As examples of possible environmental factors with the potential to affect a genetically susceptible child, Yasko cites the presence of mercury in foods, mercury and aluminum in vaccines, and the use of MSG (monosodium glutamate) in foods.

The procedures

Yasko has devised a sequence of testing and health-support procedures for families who want to try her approach.

She emphasizes that the methods should be used under the guidance of a physician.

The process starts with a genetic test to determine where susceptibility may lie.

"We can bypass the weaknesses," she said, through tailoring the nutrients the child receives.

Other steps include reducing excitotoxins, which Yasko said cause neural damage.

"They excite the nerves to death," she said.

Supplements, generally recommended in small amounts, are employed to help deal with chronic infections. A chemical process called "chelation" may also be used to remove toxic metals.

Nutrients and supplements are later used to help heal damaged nerves.

A different approach may be required for each child, according to Yasko. She likened the process to finding a jewelry box full of tangled necklaces and working to untangle them all.

"You have to be patient," she said. "But I really believe you can recover every child."

Because Yasko's advice is increasingly in demand, she said, she no longer oversees the details of individual cases.

"I can't give a recipe for each person," she said. "I give information so parents can understand and work with a doctor."

Yasko has designed her own genetic testing kit, which costs around $1,000. She estimates the monthly cost for supplements at about $250.

Both the kit and the supplements may be purchased online on her website, autismanswer.com.

Yasko operates from her Holistic Health Consultants office in Bethel.

Physicians interested

Some physicians are well-versed in alternative autism treatments and some are not, according to Yasko.

An increasing number of physicians are attending her presentations at conferences on alternative treatments, she said.

"When I give a talk now, it's about 50/50 parents and doctors," she said.

Some physicians and autism researchers are skeptical of the effectiveness of alternative healthcare methods, saying there is not enough scientific evidence to conclude the methods produce real results. Some are also wary of the use of chelation, citing safety concerns, and they question whether mercury plays a role in autism.

Autism Society cautious
The Autism Society of America is cautious in discussing the effectiveness of various treatments for the condition.

According to ASA's website, "Autism is a complex developmental disability that typically appears during the first three years of life and is the result of a neurological disorder that affects the normal functioning of the brain."

"While there are no drugs, vitamins or special diets that can correct the underlying neurological problems that seem to cause autism, parents and professionals have found that some drugs used for other disorders are sometimes effective in treating some aspects of behaviors associated with autism. Changes to diet and the addition of certain vitamins or minerals may also help with behavioral issues."

Yasko was asked how she knows there is a cause-and-effect relationship between her methods and improvements in an autistic child's condition.

She said she believes she has clinical evidence of her method's effectiveness, through the experiences of the 2,300 families with whom she has worked, and through individual lab test results, which among other things show a decline in toxic metals.

Her book and website offer testimonials from parents who believe her approach has worked for their children.

The mother of a 13-year-old boy suffering from autism wrote of her son's tantrums, her sleepless nights, and the strain on the family:

"This is the life you build for yourself, until the day comes when you discover that there is a way out of this terrible prison, a journey which demands everything you have to give but grants miracles in return. Such a day came to me in June of 2004, with a phone call from Dr. Amy Yasko. After that moment nothing would ever again be the same."

Yasko said she feels an obligation to help such families, because she feels blessed to have "three beautiful, healthy kids" of her own.

"I need to share what I know to help parents get through this," she said.

Impressive academic credentials

Amy Yasko is a graduate of Colgate University and Albany Medical College, where she studied in a program that blended a medical education and a degree in research. She spent three years doing clinical research in the Department of Microbiology/Immunology/Infectious Diseases, and received a doctorate degree.

She went on to do a fellowship in the Department of Pediatrics and Infectious Diseases at Strong Memorial Hospital, where she worked to develop influenza vaccines.

While in the hospital's cancer center, she worked on techniques to isolate RNA from cells. She did further RNA work in the Department of Hematology at Yale New Haven Hospital.

Yasko also co-founded a biotechnology company.

When her interest turned to alternative healthcare, she went on to earn degrees as Doctor of Naturopathy and Doctor of Natural Health.

Seven years ago, she established an alternative health care consultation business, based in Bethel.

Subdivisions approved.

But so far this year, only 46 lots have been approved, and there are currently no active applications before the Planning Board.

Buyers looking for buildable house lots in Bethel and Newry subdivisions currently have 300 or so to choose from.

Given the size of that inventory, it will probably be some time before demand catches up to supply, and subdividing again becomes as attractive an economic option.

Housing starts also slow
The pace of local housing starts has also slackened.

From Jan. 1 to Aug. 31 last year Bethel code enforcement officer Rich St. John issued 98 building permits in Bethel.

During the comparable period this year, he issued 86.

In Newry, where St. John serves in the same capacity, the number of permits has remained steady.

Nationwide trend
Like local subdivision and housing starts, statewide and national real estate sales numbers are also dropping.

And, in the Northeast at least, prices are beginning to follow suit.

The Maine Real Estate Information System reported last week that 213 fewer homes sold statewide in July 2006 than in July of 2005, a decrease of 16 percent.

The state's median sales price for a single-family existing home was $190,000 in July, a decrease of 2.6 percent compared to a year ago.

The Northeast also witnessed a regional sales decrease of 12.5 percent. The National Association of Realtors reported that the median sales price for those homes decreased 2.1 percent to $276,000.

Nationally, sales of single-family homes were down 11.4 percent in July. According to the NAR, the national median sales price increased 1.5 percent to $231,200.

Back in Oxford County, sales for the past quarter (May 1 to July 31) were down by 16 percent (211 to 177) over the comparable period a year ago.

However the median Oxford County sales price for the period increased by $1,000, to $143,000, over the comparable period a year ago.

REMOVE HIS ANIMALS NOW

To the Editor:

I am responding to the article that appeared in your Aug. 24, 2006 edition about the animal cruelty charges brought against Larry Smith. The thought that this individual still has animals in his possession is incomprehensible.

The state veterinarian, Chris Fraser, has the authority to seize these animals when there is a clear and imminent danger. With the atrocities that have been going on in just the last month it wouldn't take a rocket scientist to realize that the remaining animals are clearly in imminent danger. She has in her possession graphic pictures taken by townspeople. When she states, "We've been dealing with him for years," speaks volumes.

The statement that they have given him a little time to fix things up is ludicrous. He has been through the court system many times on animal cruelty. What good did it do? The animals should be removed immediately. Let him go to court and if he is found innocent return the animals. When it comes to animal cruelty in Maine nothing would surprise me.

The local A.C.O.'s hands are tied when it comes to large animals. The laws need to be changed. When it comes to animal cruelty it should not come under agriculture. It should be dealt directly in law enforcement.

When Officer McCormick was denied entrance to the barn by Mr. Smith, the state vet should have immediately ordered a search warrant to gain access to the barn.

The citizens of Bethel have tried for years to get help for the many animals in Mr. Smith's possession to no avail. Don't give up. Write letters to your congressman, governor, contact every TV station and let them know the time has come that Mr. Smith will never again have the right to own animals to abuse. Thank you.

CHAMBER MEETING THANKS

To the Editor:

We want to thank everyone who participated in the Aug. 23 Bethel Area Chamber Membership Meeting. We appreciated the dialogue and are glad that all had the opportunity to speak their mind.

We especially want to thank Dutch Dresser for facilitating the gathering. He did a wonderful job keeping us on track and focused. The Bethel Area Chamber continues to believe that a community wide dialogue about our future will result in the best outcomes for all. If you'd care to see the opening comments or transcripts of the meeting, they will be available at the chamber office.

TABOR CUTS NOTHING

To the Editor:

First, let's put something to bed right now. The Taxpayer's Bill of Rights cuts nothing. The very worst that can happen to a budget is that it will be flat funded. The bill allows for approximately a 4 percent increase in budgeting every year and further allows the citizenry the right to override if they deem it necessary.

If you think that out-of-control government spending is OK, then vote against TABOR, but if you think that a six-billion-dollar deficit with a little over a million people is cause for alarm then I think it's a good bet that you don't make your living from public funds.

You need to look no further than the list of organizations that are so deathly afraid of the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights that they will use every scare tactic known to man to defeat it.

If the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights is passed then Maine may have to cease being one of, if not the best welfare state in the union. If the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights is passed then perhaps Atlanta, Ga., will stop advising aliens that the best state in the Union to take advantage of a welfare system is Maine.

If the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights is passed we won't have the special vote to increase the school budget unnecessarily. We in SAD44 know about this one. We also know about the strong phone call initiative that caused it to pass, don't we.

If the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights is to pass then government agencies across the state will be forced to live under the same budget restraints that each and every one of us has to adhere to in our families and every single business person across the state has to live with — how unreasonable is that?

Those who are opposed to the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights believe with all their heart that we are better off sending as much money as possible to Augusta so that they can decide in their benevolence where and how the money should be spent.

This out-of-control spending just has to stop. We can no longer afford it. We are one of only two states that had a negative economic rating last year. Louisiana was the other. I remind you that Louisiana also had Katrina to deal with. That speaks volumes about how poorly our state is being run.

Those opposed will tell you that schools will close, seniors will freeze, police departments will close, and in general we will be tossed back to the Stone Age.

Our young people are still leaving in order to find a place to make a good living, businesses are still closing or are in a life-and-death struggle to stay alive, and the people who actually pay taxes in this state (the highest tax rate in the United States) are looking to alternative places to live.

As John Kennedy said so many years ago — a rising economic tide will raise all boats.

Vote for the Taxpayer's Bill of Rights — especially if you are one of those who pay taxes in this state.

Sunday, Aug. 27

At 9:05 a.m. Officer Bill Britting responded to Main Street for a report of a suspicious adult male. The officer found that the subject, who was homeless, had an active warrant on him. Robert D. Caron, 48, was taken into custody.

At 7:15 p.m. on the East Bethel Road Lt. S.R. White arrested Brian J. Piawlock, 18, for a second offense OUI and operating without a license. He was also summonsed for speeding and having no insurance.

At 11:05 p.m. on Main Street Lt. S.R. White arrested Darrin S. Mavros, 41, of Lynn, Mass., for OUI.

Friday, Aug. 25

At 12:05 a.m. Officer Mac McCormick responded to a business parking lot for a report of out-of-control subjects. One ran on the officer's arrival, while a second remained. The remaining subject's pickup truck had been driven over a ledge in the parking lot and was stuck. The subject said he had not been driving, and he did not know who had. Brandon Palmer, 24, of Bethel was given a summons for illegally attached plates. The vehicle was towed.

Thursday, Aug. 24

At 10:08 p.m. Officer Jack Taylor responded to a parking lot for a report of a broken gumball machine. Employees of a nearby business did not know who had broken it.

Tuesday, Aug. 22

At 6:09 p.m. Officer Bill Britting responded to a residence for a complaint regarding the custody of a pet bird. The officer mediated the situation to an amicable solution.

To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies.

Woodstock tax bills go out

WOODSTOCK—The mill rate set for Woodstock this year is .0125, up .0014 from last year, according to town officials. The tax commitment is $1,518,283, compared to last year's $1,308,778. Tax bills were sent out on Tuesday.

CROP Walk for interfaith work

BETHEL—The West Parish Congregational Church is sponsoring a CROP Walk Sunday, Sept. 10, to raise funds for the interfaith work of Church World Service. The non-denominational effort has walkers gathering pledges and walking a distance of 5k around Bethel. CROP Walks are the foundation for the work of Church World Service. Thanks to the many walkers around the country, trained staff can respond to national and international disasters immediately. In addition, 25 percent of the money raised in Bethel will go to the local Good Shepherd Ministry in Lewiston for its work with hunger relief in Maine. For more information locally, contact Christine Trefethen (836-2164) or me (665-2264).

cent statewide met or exceeded it. In math, 75 percent met or exceeded, compared to 55 percent statewide.

In commenting on the WES scores Tuesday, Murphy said, "Several years ago, the MEA scores at WES had been running consistently lower than the rest of the district's elementary schools. At that time, we moved Jolene Littlehale to WES (first as an assistant principal and then as a teaching principal).

"We also focused on providing additional Title 1 services to that school and allocated our Class Size Reduction Act money to allow Jolene to work with students during the other half of the day when she was not doing principal duties.

"The staff has worked energetically on examining data and improving instruction and the results are clearly beginning to show. An active volunteer program and a committed parent organization have also helped to set high expectations for the school."

AES

In Andover, among third-graders 67 percent met standards in reading (none exceeded), while 65 percent statewide met or exceeded them. In math, 44 percent met or exceeded, compared to 58 percent statewide.

Among fourth-graders in reading, 63 percent met standards (none exceeded), while 61 percent met or exceeded statewide. In math, 50 percent met (none exceeded), compared to 59 percent meeting or exceeding statewide. In science, 50 percent met (none exceeded), compared to 57 percent statewide meeting or exceeding.

For fifth-graders in reading, 55 percent met standards (none exceeded), while 58 percent statewide met or exceeded. In math, 55 percent met (none exceeded), compared to 55 percent statewide meeting or exceeding.

CPS

At Crescent Park Elementary School among third-graders, 58 percent met or exceeded reading standards, while 65 percent did so statewide. In math, 42 percent met or exceeded, compared to 58 percent statewide.

For fourth-graders, 54 percent met or exceeded in reading, while 61 percent did statewide. In math, 48 percent met or exceeded, compared to 59 percent statewide. In science, 54 percent met or exceeded, compared to 57 percent statewide.

Among fifth-graders in reading, 55 percent met or exceeded, while 58 percent did statewide. In math, 39 percent met or exceeded, compared to 55 percent statewide.

TMS

At Telstar Middle School among sixth-graders, 50 percent met or exceeded in reading, while 59 percent did statewide. In math, 35 percent met or exceeded, compared to 50 percent statewide.

For seventh-graders, 52 percent met or exceeded in reading, compared to 60 percent statewide. In math, 41 percent met or exceeded, compared to 47 percent statewide.

For eighth-graders, 66 percent met or exceeded in reading, compared to 59 percent statewide. In math, 46 percent met or exceeded, compared to 45 percent statewide. In science, 76 percent met or exceeded, compared to 65 percent statewide.

In 2004, TMS failed to make "adequate yearly progress" in test scores as required under the federal No Child Left Behind Act. As a result, said Graham, a state "coach" was provided. Teachers, particularly in Grade 8, have worked to improve the scores, and "it showed," she said.

Graham noted that the seventh-grade results are still below the state average in the combined meet or exceed categories, but she said that 11 percent of the class exceeded standards in math. That, said Graham is "excellent," and may possibly be attributable to changes in the math program.

In Grade Six, she said, additional work is needed in reading and math to move more students out of the "does not meet" category.

None available for THS

Scores were not available for Telstar High School juniors, because last year for the first time the SAT test was used in place of the MEAs. Standards for reporting the results in MEA categories have not yet been established.

Chamber

The petitioners charged that the chamber's participation in such initiatives promoted the interests of the retail and tourism sectors of the economy, at the expense of landowners, developers, contractors and people in farming and timber industries — all of whom would face greater governmental regulation if the initiatives were brought to fruition.

The chamber, however, countered that its activities were intended only to gather information and establish dialogues regarding the economic future of the Bethel area.

At a meeting last month, the chamber's executive committee voted to put the matter to the membership.

Too vague

The question at the heart of the meeting was essentially a vote of confidence in the current direction of the chamber: "Would you support the creation of a taskforce to commission a review of the economic implications of various development patterns that may emerge in the Bethel area?"

Bill White made the opening remarks. He described the chamber's recent development activities, and the rationale behind them. (The full text of White's remarks will be available by this afternoon on The Citizen's website: bethelcitizen.com.)

White concluded by saying: "There are three main reasons the chamber board is asking our question tonight. One is because the chamber board realizes that there is a wealth of information to be gathered within our own community. Two, we feel that a taskforce made up of all stakeholders, especially all business sectors will be more representative of our community. And finally we realize that there is research being carried out across the state of Maine that can provide the community with better data to move forward. Our expectation is that a taskforce would have the time and focus to gather this data in a reflective, inclusive manner for the benefit of the community as a whole. For these reasons we are asking you to vote on this question tonight."

But following White's remarks, supporters of the petition made their own case, repeating the charges they had raised not only in the petition but also in several recent letters to the editor.

As the meeting wore on, however, other voices began to be heard, supporting the chamber's efforts to gain useful information about the area's economic options.

After two hours of discussion, it appeared the majority of those at the meeting were disposed to support the chamber's efforts and vote in favor of the question at hand.

But while there was apparent support for the overall intent of the question, there was considerable unease with the vague language in which it was couched.

Eventually Carol Duplessis asked if the question could be tabled.

"It was clear that nobody wanted to vote on it," she told The Citizen. "We all like each other in this town, and to go black and white was just too hard."

The motion was made, and it passed easily.

For Rick Whitney, one of the petition signers, the outcome was a clear victory.

"Given the fact that the chamber president openly stated that the question was written in such a manner as to elicit a yes vote," Whitney said, "I think that tabling the vote was the best possible outcome for those of us in favor of voting no."

But even some of those on the other side of the debate, agreed with the tabling.

Seabury Lyon, who supported the chamber position, said, "I agree that it was too vague for the folks who had a hard time grasping it."

It is not known at this time if a follow-up meeting will be called.

(Notes: Because the Chamber of Commerce is a private organization, and because the presence of the press can be inimical to the candid exchange of opinions in such forums, The Citizen did not cover last week's meeting directly. We did, however, speak with several participants after the meeting. Their accounts were consistent and are the basis of the reporting on the meeting in this article.

For those interested in more detail, Bill White, president of the chamber's board of directors, writes in a letter to the editor this week that a transcript of the meeting "will be available at the chamber of commerce." However Chamber Executive Director Robin Zinchuk said she could not say when the transcripts would be available. As of Tuesday the notes from the meeting had not been transcribed, and she said that before the transcript is made available to the public White wants to review it.)

by Virginia Keniston
 Larry and Marlene Engdahl spent the weekend of Aug. 19 at Sebasco Harbor Estates where their granddaughter, Kathryn Meyer of Carlisle, Mass., was married to Spencer McEwan of Dexter and Portland, Maine. Participating in the wedding were grandchildren, Eliza and Anne Upton of Ann Arbor, Mich., as flower girls; and Spencer Meyer of Carlisle, Mass., as ring bearer. Following the weekend's festivities, Marlene and Larry's daughter, Suzanne Upton of Ann Arbor along with Annie, Eliza and Spencer returned to Bethel for four days of fun. This included a day camping trip to Papoose Pond and to Old Orchard Beach. A reunion of cousins happened at Old Orchard Beach when Julie Seymour from Fairfield, Conn., as well as Marlene Cox-Faxon from Yarmouth, joined them along with their children. This was a wonderful few days that brought together many cousins, younger and older, who had not seen each other since last Thanksgiving. Such fun!

With gratitude and pride, Woody and Lee Hughes welcomed their son, Corporal Kenniston W. Carpenter home after serving his three-year tour of duty in the U.S. Army. He had been stationed at Ft. Irwin, Calif., as a trainer. Ken will attend college in Philadelphia, in September.

Henry and Betty Robertson spent several days visiting Jack and Merryann Harkins in Brunswick.

Ethel and Buster Robertson of California recently were in town visiting friends and relatives. They returned home on Monday.

Muriel Butters had three nieces as guests over the weekend, Alice Dale and Connie Bean of Zephyrhills, Fla., and Valerie Chapman who spends winters in Zephyrhills, and summers in Mt. Vernon, Maine. During the afternoon on Saturday they were joined by visits from Edna York, Betty Lou Gingras, Bud Bowden, Mike and Judith Coletta.

Middle Intervale News

By Pat Carter

The annual meeting of the Middle Intervale Meeting House Association was held Aug. 26. This year is the 190th anniversary of this structure. Those who built the meeting house, probably at no small cost to themselves, would be pleased to see the building now. A potluck picnic was followed by enjoyable, toe-tapping piano favorites played by Ross Swain. Steve Seames gave an enlightening history of the building's construction and pointed out the changes made over the years. The annual meeting was held after the program's completion. The association is grateful to Brooks Bros. for exhibiting pictures of the Meeting House for all to enjoy. The Meeting House is available seasonally for weddings, musical activities, exhibits, meetings, etc. It's to be used and enjoyed. If you have an activity that you think might fit please call any of the following: Al Cressy 824-0508, Ted Bush 824-2039 or Gloria Wilson 824-2600.

This time of the year is very busy. For those who can or freeze vegetables, it all comes due at once or so it seems. The tomatoes are a little late but coming in and the corn from the Middle Intervale Farm is the best I've eaten in many years.

A few homes on the road are sporting new siding or new paint jobs. They certainly look nice.

I've been giving some thought of late on how to encourage all residents of our community to voluntarily recycle their bottles, cans, cardboard, plastic, etc. I don't want our landfills burdened with unnecessary refuse. Our town could also use the extra money generated by the sale of recyclables. Mother Earth would thank us and it would make us all feel good to know that we were acting responsibly. That would be another pat on the back for us. Do any of you have any ideas on this subject?

I'm thinking that soon I'm going to have to start a little creative news reporting, if you get the drift. I would preface each entry with a statement that I was having a flight of fantasy; however I guarantee that it will make for amusing reading. So, come on you folk, how about some news. Call 824-3232.

Mayville News

By Don Bennett

After getting home from Texas on Saturday evening, the first news I received was an e-mail from our town manager telling me that Mike Pelletier had withdrawn his development from the Mayville sewer planning (at least for now). Part of the negotiating process that rocks the sewer in its cradle is: In principle, how much should the sewer district invest in new connecting mains and pumps? The district's revenue interest is in obtaining more paying customers who would use and pay for the expanded sewer plant. Investing in public works has never been Bethel's forte. So as Plan A seems to have quickly evolved into Plan B, us "Mayville-ites" will have to confer some more on how much is fair for private versus public investment in the expansion of the sewer system into Mayville.

News on the Riverside Cemetery riverbank repair has also come by e-mail through the town manager from Peter Marcinkus, the US Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation agent who handled Bethel's initial request for watershed protection funding in the summer of 2005. Marcinkus recently had a conversation with Dan Baumert, NRCS State Engineer. Baumert's goal is to get the required topographic survey completed by September and contact permitting agencies. The most likely schedule is to complete design work during the fall and winter. Construction may come next spring or summer but originally word had come down that funds had to be committed by May 2007. The cost of the riverbank repair job cannot be finalized until after the design is completed but the early estimate is $175,000. The federal government's agency will pay 75 percent of the job cost. Mr. Cole has indicated that this item will be part of the selectmen's Sept. 11 meeting agenda.

The home at 137 Mayville Road that at one time belonged to the parents of my school classmates Keith and Kay Wilson (and who were also parents of Dot York) now belongs to Jeff and Pattie Parsons. I asked Jeff if he was playing his real estate cards like a Monopoly game player and now with another house he would be in line to build a hotel. He just smiled.

Up the road at the Prodigal Inn, the Whites have had renovation and restoration projects going on for the last two weeks. The front porch of the inn has seen extensive repair work particularly on the porch's pillars and foundation. Meanwhile, the barn which was last fall's "barn dance barn" and is Tom White's sculpture studio on a daily basis is getting new roofing.

Sunday River Farm harvested their oats crop last week as a sign of fall approaching.

Gary Savage has definitely gotten the jump on his new neighbor as far as Mayville roadside retailing is concerned. Gary's roadside marketplace has been positively jumping lately. Right now he has for sale a pickup truck, kayak, bikes, a garden tractor, snow blower, lawn mower and ATVs plus an assortment of other items. Better hurry by because sales go down quickly.

Speaking of the other Mayville market, the Mayville Junction marketplace, remodeling of the former garage has progressed to the point where a clear picture of the future structure has formed. Window and door arrangements for the store sections are framed and covered; the second floor's shape and outer appearance that will soon house residence condos is also clear to the eye.

There is no new news at this point about the other item on Mayville's want list — sidewalks. To check back in history, as a reader, one might be interested in how West Bethel handled their sidewalk needs back in the 1880s. In November 1887, the West Bethel citizens formed a Village Improvement Society to raise funds to assist in building a sidewalk — an improvement that was seen as very much needed at the time. West Bethel's sidewalk plan was to connect the post office with the rail depot. In July of 1889, the society invited County Commissioner Abbott to assist in laying out the path of the new sidewalk. Then on July 23, 1889, it was reported that The Village Improvement Society is having a concrete sidewalk laid on the north side of (West Bethel's) Main Street from W. H. Merrows to the depot.

Next week I will have a similar story from about the same years that will be about Bethel village sidewalks. The town road commissioner of the time, Eben Kilborn, got the sidewalk done in the summer of 1895 from post office to depot for $944. He mentioned getting some financial help from businesses and residents who benefited from the sidewalk.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

It has been very cold for August with the thermometer hovering around 40 most mornings. Saturday was a beautiful day, but was followed by another rainy day. It kept the folks close to home with the family.

Larry Nelson and Gene Wixom, both Uncle Henry fans, purchased three kayaks over the weekend.

Ginny and Diane Williamson had lots of company through the week. Phyllis Williamson Stevens spent three days in her old hometown. Raymond Moulton of Kennebunkport and his great nephew John Evans also visited them Thursday. Jerry and Aileen Geiling and extended family are here for a week.

Anita and Bill Harris are also enjoying being in Upton till after Labor Day.

The Ladies Aid Fair and Bake Sale was a great success. The proceeds will be applied to assist in paying for the "siding job" on the little building. We thank the generous people who donated their pledges on Saturday.

Winners of the raffles were: Hillary doll, Lucille Pomprey; necklace, Giselle Cameron; embroidered bed sheet, Deborah Judkins; lap robe, Bob Tucker; wall hanging, Simone Lavallee; baby blanket, Jane Rich; baby quilt, Richard Yost; Indian doll, Marion Woodcock; loon quilt (king size), Sandy Thomas; necklace, Luc Cote. Pillows were won by Cindy Eames, Donna Heater, Carolyn Taylor and Christine Dunham.

The Casey family traveled to Granby Zoo in Canada over the weekend.

Two houses on Mill Road were set back on their new foundations.

New roofs, landscaping and building extensions have also been added.

Welcome home to Joy Yarnell, who has returned to her home and garden. Betsy Yarnell Franklin, her daughter, is caring for her mother during her convalescence. Joy will be out "dead heading" the posies soon.

We will miss "Nelson" the black Labrador Retriever who greeted us at the Bear River store.

Nelson and his pal, "Willie" always made you feel good as you entered the store, and we will certainly miss him.

The birds are now going south. Little flocks arrive each day.

The hummingbirds are still on sentry duty by the feeders, but will be gone soon.

School opened on Wednesday. Where did the summer go? Good luck kids! Make us proud.

The "Bird of the Week" is the little phoebe who nests over the door light at the Stratton's Birch Point Cottage. She is gone; now we will watch for her return next year.

My head tells me that summer isn't yet over, but there is no doubt that fall is insinuating itself onto the scene. Not only have the nights (and days) been cooler, but already the swamp maples are decked out in their brilliant crimson colors. And tomorrow is September!

The blackberries continue to ripen and are plump and juicy. The garden is winding down, and I found a butternut squash that is at least fifteen inches long!

We had a delicious crop of mini watermelons, some of which are still in the old fridge. Second corn crop (just a few worms) is melt-in-your-mouth good, and the second bean crop is ready for picking.

Mike has been noticing a rapid increase in webs in the trees, mostly wild cherry and gray birch. Is there anyone out there who knows what particular kind of webworm, tent caterpillar, or whatever, is building these webs? There seem to be more than we've seen in years, and they are increasing exponentially. Give us a call if you have a clue.

Mike and I spent most of last week in Orleans, Mass., down on old Cape Cod, visiting his sister and family in their vacation rental there. The weather was perfect, and even the ocean water was swimmable. We were culture shocked, however, by the enormous crowds everywhere, especially at the beaches, where the parking lots were always full, and we were forced to take a shuttle from a remote lot. We enjoyed the fresh seafood, the company, the sun and relaxation, but it sure was good to cross over the Piscataquis River back into Maine.

Mo Libby at Sunday River Alpacas says their new chicks are growing fast and are developing their wings. There have been lots of visitors at the Alpaca Farm these past weeks. Mo wants to remind everyone that she and Jeff and a couple of 'pacas will be on the Bethel Common on Sept. 16 for the Harvest Fest celebration, so the farm will be closed that day. She notes that this year's crop of baby alpacas are up to around 60 pounds already!

The Pleasant Valley Grange had their annual picnic last Thursday at the home of Ida and Rupert Grover in Mason. As usual, there were lots of folks there to enjoy the wonderful food and fellowship.

Another picnic was held on Sunday at Nancy and Dan Grover's place when the West Bethel Union Church congregation got together. I hear they polished off the delectable vittles just before the rain started. Following the picnic, Bud and Lynn Kulik and Jane Hos-terman headed for town where they met Barbara Mahler at the last of the Mahosuc Arts summer concert series. Needless to say, the venue was moved from the gazebo on the Common to Bingham Auditorium at Gould Academy.

Also at the West Bethel Union Church on Sunday, Malinda Gilbert gave a talk on Palestine. Malinda recently spent two weeks in Israel and environs with Interfaith Peace Builders, a group dedicated to creating a dialogue between Palestine and the global community.

Those attending found her talk both interesting and informative, and well organized and presented.

On the subject of the Middle East, I just finished reading "Three Cups of Tea: One Man's Mission to Fight Terrorism and Build Nations, One School at a Time," by Greg Mortenson and David Oliver Relin.

Mortenson firmly believes that poverty and ignorance are the root causes of terrorism, and over ten years he has built fifty-five schools serving Pakistan and Afghanistan's poorest communities. It's a remarkable story, and I recommend it highly. The Bethel Library has the book.

The Grange flea market is still in business, with one weekend to go before closing shop for this season. Last chance, everyone!

Verna Thayer and Jane Hosterman volunteered at the District Exchange last Saturday. Jane tells me that it was unusually busy, and she and Verna were kept hopping.

Don't forget to give us some answers about the webworm explosion. And any family news you'd like to share would be welcome. 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net.

TAKING THE REINS—The Ellis River Riders held their second annual Demo Day and Chili Cook-off Aug. 19 in Andover. The proceeds from the sale of chili, t-shirts and the 50/50 raffle were donated to The American Cancer Society's Relay for Life. Craig Davis of Bethel (holding the reins), a cancer survivor, favors this organization's distribution of funds for cancer research, most of which stays within Maine. Pictured are, from left: Bill Cole, Huey, Dewey, Ernest Garcia, and Davis. Demonstrations included endurance riding, dressage, jumping, natural horsemanship and drafts in tandem.

It is really beginning to feel like fall. The temperature has been in the 50s at night lately and some of the leaves have begun to turn color.

There was a yard sale at Sue Saunders this past weekend. Hugh and I had to stop and check it out. Other than that, I guess things are quiet in town. There doesn't seem to be much news to report.

Brad McLain stopped by to see his dad, Steve McLain, this past weekend. Besides checking out the latest produce from the garden, Brad helped to do some repair work on one of his dad's vehicles.

I got an e-mail from Howard Reiche this past weekend. "Stevie" is doing great. She is at home in Harpswell and working on getting back on her feet.

Planning Board
The monthly Planning Board meeting will be held at 7 p.m.

on Sept. 7 at the Town Hall. In addition to regular agenda items, there will be an informal presentation by Maine-Land Development Consultants Inc. regarding the potential Peaked Hill Estates Subdivision. Contact Jack Pucak at 836-2729 for information related to the meeting. Applications for such work may be obtained from Jack or at the Town Office.

Gilead Historical Society

The next event for the GHS is a Potluck Supper to be held on Saturday, Sept. 23, at the Town Hall at 5 p.m. The supper is open to anyone who would like to attend. Just bring a food item to share. The Annual Meeting will follow the supper at 6:30 p.m.

There are still copies available of the Hastings book that the society published in June.

Give me a call with news at 836-2987 or e-mail chapmal@hotmail.com.

Andrea Savitz, president of Andover Service Circle (ASC), has asked me to include the following announcement. If there is anyone in Andover who wants a 2007 Andover Service Circle Community Calendar, but has not placed an order as of yet, his or her order must be placed this week.

All last-minute orders are to be immediately made by telephoning Judy Michaud at 392-1221.

There will be an ATV Safety course sponsored by the Roxbury ATV Club and the Andover Recreation Department. It will be held at the Andover Town Hall on Sept. 10, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Signup sheets are at the local businesses.

Speedy recovery wishes to Fred Allen, who had recent surgery.

Peggy and Joe Madigan returned on Tuesday after spending five days in Chicago visiting with her son, Bob, daughter-in-law, Rachel, and granddaughter, Joslyn. While there they took in a Peter Paul and Mary concert.

Welcome back to school all of you children!

Happy birthday wishes today to Sierra Gray. Happy birthday on Tuesday, Sept. 5, to Dakota Hutchins.

(Oh, and happy birthday on Saturday to Dee, the lunch lady!)

Have a nice weekend — it's hard to believe that it is Labor Day.

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

School started yesterday (the 30th). Drivers should be cautious and not follow school buses too closely. The buses are carrying precious cargo.

John "Gootch" Gauthier is recovering well and has been back to work part-time for a few weeks. He is now living at home. Glad to hear you are on the up side of mend, John.

Norm and Eleanor Davis' get-together of Newry neighbors this past Sunday was well attended and I hear that they had relatives from out of state here as well.

Visiting Karlene Bachelder on Thursday were Phillip and Shannon O'Donnell and their children, Megan and Brody, from East Wilton. They had been camping in the White Mountains area and were on their way home. On Saturday, Karlene and Gilbert Seeley drove to Winthrop and took Heidi Littlefield out to lunch for her birthday, which was on Sunday. Julie Littlefield and her children, Alexis and Natalie, also joined them at the Chinese Restaurant. Karlene's sister, Wilma Stewart from Unity, is here for a visit.

Visiting me on Monday were my cousin, Richard Schwind and his wife, Elinor, and children, Matthew and Kaylee, from Short Hills, N.J. Matthew will be six in October and starts school after Labor Day. Kaylee just had her second birthday in May. They headed out around 1 p.m. to take Matthew fishing and lull Kaylee into a nap. They returned after driving to Rumford, Rumford Point, East Andover and some fishing for Matthew at the Ellis River. We had cake and coffee around 7 p.m. It had been a long day for them and the children were getting tired. It had been over six years since I had seen Rich and Elinor so we had lots to catch up on.

The Town Office will be closed on Labor Day.

Tim is currently majoring in mechanical engineering. To achieve the dean's list distinction, students must have a full program of at least four courses and have a point average of 3.15 or greater out of a possible 4.0 with no grade lower than a C during the course of their college career. Each student receives a letter of commendation and congratulation from their college dean. Tim is the son of Jim and Henrietta List. The List family lives on the Howard Pond Road.

Gardner Roberts Memorial Library had a meeting last Sunday. The members attending discussed the beginning phases of moving the library to the lot next to the Hanover Town Office. Talked about were the orientation of the building and the possibility of starting some of the foundation work this fall. Continued fundraising was also mentioned. Some folks are still leaving returnable bottles at the Town Office for the library fundraiser. That is very good and we hope others will do it also.

The Hanover Select Board met on Aug. 22, for their monthly meeting. Addressing the board was Janet Pelletier from Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments. She brought to the Board ideas for developing a revised comprehensive plan for the town of Hanover. She also supplied the town with maps and data to assist in that project. The revised comprehensive plan for the town has been pending for several years. With assistance from AVCOG and some ambitious volunteers the project should soon be underway.

It has been noted that there are a great many skunks that have taken up residence in Hanover. Just about everyone along the Howard Pond Road claims to have their own personal skunk or skunk family.

Some folks are complaining about the lawns that are being dug up, or the corn that is being pulled down but most everyone just doesn't like the smell, which seems to occur on nearly a daily basis.

to visit them.

Beverly and Vince Stevens entertained on Friday a Stevens family gathering. Those present were John and Linda, Ben, David and Cindy, all Stevens, as well as Lee Dean and Georgine Thayer.

Evis Harlow "Pip" has returned to work at Ledgeview Nursing Home in the Activity Department. All residents were very glad to have her back after surgery on both wrists. And I returned to my volunteering work every Monday evening. I help with Bingo. It was good to see my many friends there after a month's absence.

Beryl Bonney took me for groceries on Tuesday and we ate out at KFC.

Buffy likes light rain but did not care for the downpour on Sunday. A neighbor called me on the phone to let him in. I cannot hear him calling when he is outside. I did not know it was raining. I towed him off good and then he had a nap.

Florence Hastings celebrated her 102nd birthday on Aug. 26.

Florence Hastings fell Friday morning and broke her hip. She was in surgery at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway that evening and came through with flying colors. She is now at Market Square Health Care Center in South Paris.

Barbara and Rudi Honkala attended the Finnish-American Society picnic in West Paris on Aug. 20. They were not rained out, as Rudi explained they hold the picnic inside anyway. It is easier on the people who cook.

Arlene Harrington visited Mr. and Mrs. Andre Cote in Farmington, N.H. from Aug. 6 to 11.

Howard and Alice Fales of West Redding, Conn., visited George Haines and Nancy Mercer at Peter Haines' home on Aug. 20.

Lisa Haines returned on Aug. 22 from visiting friends in Fort Collins, Colo.

Jack and Lucy Nordahl returned on Aug. 21 from Acadia National Park. Their daughter and her family from Connecticut spent the week with them.

Larry and Geneva Pelletier of Manchester, N.H., visited with Paul and Charlotte Kimball on Aug. 19. Charlotte and Paul worked on the church auction on the 26th.

Shelia Bernier and daughter, Alexandra, of Camden, S.C., with Melissa McCall, Veena McCall and her daughter, and Donald Cornish of Connecticut are visiting Andrew and Flossie Bernier. Alexandra's birthday was celebrated on Aug. 19. Ryan Bernier of Camden, S.C., will be coming on Sept. 2 before he departs for Afghanistan.

Judy Smith of Surry visited Arlene Harrington from Aug. 24 to 26.

There will be a benefit supper for Brenda T. Wodka on Sept. 9 at the American Legion Hall, Locke Mills, from 5 to 7 p.m. The Sam Chapman Band will provide music for dancing after supper. This is a pot-luck-type supper; bring a special dish you like. Donations will be greatly appreciated.

If you have any news, give me a ring at 824-3350. The weather has been feeling a lot like fall lately. God Bless the Troops.

At History Day at the Historical Society Museum Olive Risko, Annela Burnham, and the Billings family watched the museum and tables. The food went especially well and the flea market items and crafts also sold. About 35 people came in, so attendance was modest. Olive and Annela kept the museum open until 4 p.m. Olive wore an old-fashioned costume for the day and her granddaughter came to help. Much thanks. Curator Larry Billings had a small exhibit on Mollycodd and garden fruits and vegetables on display.

The Historical Society Museum has fine exhibits now.

They can be proud of them. Curator Larry thanks the society members for all their work this year. He has had a number of people give him compliments lately on how nice the museum is. A couple people who hadn't been in for a while noted how much the collections had grown. He thinks this praise is justified, as they do have great exhibits.

The New England Cultural Center has a fine collection representing this region of the country. Visit soon.

Franklin Grange 124 met on Monday evening for Music Night. Program: opening thought, Music is the International and Universal Language; opening song, "America the Beautiful" by all; music by the Grange band; music by Cack Bean, Inez, and Dick Parsons; song by all, "In the Good Old Summer Time"; roll call; what is your favorite musical instrument and favorite song; more music by all the musicians together; closing thought, Thank God for Music; closing song, "God Bless America." It was a very good program. Two state officers were present. Several members were reported as sick: Peggy Blake broke her arm, Laura Hutchins has had back surgery and the gout; Bertha DeHaas has fallen three times and only returned home from the hospital on Monday. Next meeting will be Sept. 4 with program on "County Fair." The Woodstock-Greenwood Senior Citizens will meet on Sept. 7 at the Masonic Hall. The Star Birthday Club will put on the dinner and program will be by Hugh Swan from Greenwood. New members are always welcome. The dinner is $5.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening at 6:30 p.m., is prayer meeting. The annual Church Picnic will be held on Saturday, Sept. 9, at Littlefield Beaches.

On Aug. 25, Carly Cummings started her first year at Hobart and William Smith College in Geneva, N.Y. Carly graduated 9th in her class at South Portland High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society, French Honor Society, Women's Literary Union workshop, Drama Club, Literary Magazine and Key Club. She received the Eva Alley Memorial Scholarship as well as a four-year faculty scholarship from William Smith. She is the daughter of Dan and Betsey Cummings of South Portland, and granddaughter of Helen Cummings, Bethel and Sterling and Irene Mills, Bryant Pond.

News from Mrs. Nieberle: "Have seen a few people in the farm stand that I haven't seen since earlier in the year. Mr. Felt came in and talked about haying. He told me that Norm and Eloise Lewis had their sons, John and Ben, help him hay. Sometimes the whole family helps with their friends Cindy, Bob and Victoria Bobbe.

"Our new neighbors visited, Mike and Michelle with one-year-old twin boys and three-year-old daughter. Mrs. Althea Hathaway also stopped.

"Amelia Yarasitis was visiting her grandparents on the lake this week.

"Seems there was a fire at the chipping mill, and Woodstock Fire Department assisted.

"Kayla Cushman was in a horse show at Andover this past weekend.

"Joyce and Willie Hathaway's daughter, Jane, is doing stenciling and murals now and getting to show art talent inside houses. You know the Hathaways have been married for 59 years. They are always so nice and have a smile every time you see them. I also know they like to help people. Willie owns Hathaway's Mill in South Woodstock. Joyce Hathaway told me she has a doe and fawns in her garden eating her plants and veggies. I had no idea that deer eat dailies and hosta; of course I know they love veggies. Joyce also said the doe blew at her to let her know to stay away from the fawns where they were hiding — never heard of that before.

"I read that TV host (talk show) Tucker Carlson, who visits Bryant Pond, will be on the TV Show Dancing with the Stars shown weekly. Tucker is known not only for this talk show but for wearing bow ties.

"Sharon Felt Silver from Silver Creations Florist on Main Street, went to her 40th Class Reunion on Saturday, Aug. 19. It was held at the Browns in Greenwood. Seventeen out of twenty-seven classmates attended and a good time was had by all. Sharon saw a sign recently she liked; it said, 'It is time to stop mowing and time to start snowing.'

"Charlie and Katrina Reiss's son, August, was named to the dean's list at Northeastern College in Massachusetts. Geoff and Heidi Inman's daughter, Teresa Inman, received a bachelor of science in meteorology at Lyndon State College in Vermont.

"James and Mary Cobb's son, Army Sgt. 1st Class James A. has arrived for duty at the U.S. Recruiting Station in Dover, N.H. He has been in the military for 18 years. He graduated from Telstar in 1988.

"Did anyone notice the 'Under Contract' sign at the old Frozen Logger Restaurant? Wonder what will be coming!

"Art and Joan Jentoft had their children and grandchildren visiting this past weekend on the lake.

"Dave and Marianne McCourt from Birch Street were here with their sons to spend a vacation week on the lake."

On Saturday, Aug. 19, Ken and Alice Hoyt; Beth, Steve and Marybeth Hoover; JoAnn, David, Ray and Shawn Crockett; Jim, Charlene, Maggie and Joseph Hoyt; and Bob Hoyt and dog Sadie spent the day at Fort Popham. It was a nice day and we had a wonderful time. Birthdays and anniversary were celebrated as well as Marybeth leaving for college.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wing
Richard paid Sanford Rick-er a visit this past week. They hadn't visited for quite a while and spent quite a while catching up on news.

I had a nice visit with Pat Lawrence. We had talked on the phone recently but hadn't had a visit in person. We had a great time talking about old times and families.

Did you notice the potholes at Curtis Hill Corner have been fixed? A call to the town office and it was done. Thanks Vern and the road crew — good job! Also, the Woodstock section on Churchill has been repaved. It's almost like driving on a turnpike.

This is the first morning for a long time that I had to turn up the furnace for a short while. It was a little too chilly for me.

Larry Billings, curator, Woodstock Historical Society, reports that History Day was held Aug. 19. The food table sold out and flea market and craft items also went well. About 35 people visited the museum.

At the annual picnic of the Historical Society members enjoyed a cookout. It was held at the museum instead of the home of Mary Billings due to inclement weather. Family relatives of Paul and Vicki Billings attended. At the business meeting, a nominating committee was selected and plans for History Day were finalized. Donations were from June Bryant Cushman and her husband, Irving.

I've seen a few trees that are changing color. They sure are beautiful in the fall, but winter is not far behind.

Quote of the Week: "I've learned that you've reached middle age when your weightlifting consists of merely standing up."

Waterford

by Rockie Graham
The weather has changed again. The mornings are very cool, almost pants and shirt weather on most mornings. The afternoons are warm, but not hot. Fall-like in their brilliance — my kind of weather.

By the time you read this, Waterford will have had their candidates' forum. The election is on the 6th of September.

DBA: Now and Then Cafe

Now and Then Cafe, owned and operated by Wendy Dutterer, will be opening soon at 162 Main Street at the Philbrook Place Mall in Bethel. The cafe hopes to meet all your needs, from early morning coffee to a great lunch. The setting is in the name — it has a 50's style dining atmosphere. Now and Then Cafe's priority will be customer service and satisfaction. The cafe will offer delivery to local businesses for morning coffee and baked goods. It is coffee and friendly service the way it should be.

ber. That is the Wednesday after Labor Day. Don't forget to vote.

Sept. 9, the ball field will have their fall bottle drive. The money goes toward maintaining the ball field and for any equipment or repairs that may be needed.

Mountain Poets meets tonight, the 31st, at Fare Share Commons on Main Street in Norway. Readings begin at 7 p.m. and everyone is welcome. Come and bring a friend and a poem that you have written or is your favorite that someone else has written. FMI: call Lisa 743-9808 or Rockie at 743-0583.

I have finally found many of my missing papers. They were dumped somewhere that it was thought I would look and then forgotten. People can't just leave things be. They always have to move things to places they think are better. When I think about all the money we've spent to replace missing things that were needed only to find them again in a month or two! I guess that is what it is like to live with others.

For those who have inquired, David is well. He ended up having an additional stent put in his heart. That was something we always knew might have to be done, and it was. He was in the hospital only about 12 hours and then came home. It is amazing what modern medicine can do. He is back to his usual self or will be by the time you read this. He is eager to face the campaign. I'm glad it is not one of those long drawn out ones. Look for him around town.

I am finally healing myself, but from a kidney infection. It happens because I can't resist wheat and dairy when folks are eating it in front of me. Have to get back to being stronger willed. It is all the stress I've been under. Did that sound like a good excuse? Anyway, time to eat better and feed David better. We both need to work on that old cholesterol beast. It is so easy in our culture to get dragged down by it.

That is all for this week. Waterford residents vote on Sept. 6.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke
Greetings and hello from Albany Township. Cooler weather has been here for the past week or so, reminding us that fall foliage will soon be bursting out in bright colors, and the mowing of lawns will be replaced with the raking of leaves.

School started for SAD44 children on Wednesday. Drivers, be careful. For now, the kids waiting for the buses should be easy to see, but, as the season moves along, and darkness stays in the morning longer, caution is best advised. Remember: they're kids! They're not always paying as close attention as they should be.

Our thoughts and prayers go out to Christopher 'Toothaker's family for their loss.

There will be a benefit supper for Brenda Tibbetts Wodka, who has cancer, at the Locke Mills Legion Hall on Saturday, Sept. 9, starting at 5 p.m. The cost is $6 per person for the supper and entertainment that follows. Additional donations will also be most welcomed. Sammy Chapman and band will be the entertainment starting at 7 p.m.

Saturday was David Dyke's 10th birthday, and he and his dad went out camping at Crocker Pond over the weekend, and had a wonderful time. Now, late in the season, David has the "camping bug" and wants to go again!

Pam and Carlton Rugg stopped by on Sunday to say a quick hello and drop off some gorgeous gladiolas, carrots and corn. Thank you so much! The flowers look lovely in a big blue vase, and Dana and David canned the veggies on Monday.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep.

From Oxford County Republicans

A picture perfect, late summer afternoon was the time, a beautiful tree-lined backyard with a lazy river wandering by framed the place where many Republicans, candidates and their supporters gathered under gaily decorated tents on Saturday, Aug. 26, at the picturesque home of Ted and Eleanor Heidrich in Oxford.

The occasion? A farewell to Baldacci party honoring specifically, Senator Chandler Woodcock candidate for governor. He and Mrs. Woodcock (Charlie) stopped by to cheer on fellow Republican candidates who are also on their way down the campaign trail. Strains of accordion music, great food and wine added flavor to the enthusiastic crowd gathered under the tents and fruited apple trees.

Among those attending, besides Senator and Mrs. Woodcock, were representatives from Senators and Collins' offices, Senator Lois Snow-Mello and Mr. Mello, Rep. and Mrs. Jim Hamper, Rep. and Mrs. Tom Shields, Rep. and Mrs. Arlan Jodrey, Rep. Bruce Hanley, Rep. Randy Hotham, Rep. and Mrs. Richard Sykes, Sheriff Lloyd "Skip" Herrick, Registrar of Probate and Mrs. Tom Winsor, and County Commissioner Steve Merrill.

Candidates for state offices were Senator Chandler Woodcock, governor; Len Greaney, state Senate, District 14; Paula Smith, Representative, District 92. Running for re-election are Rep. Randy Hotham, District 93; Rep. Richard Sykes, District 98; Rep. Jim Hamper, District 100; Rep. Bruce Hanley, District 94; Senator Lois Snow-Mello, District 15. Sending regrets were Rep. Sawin Millett, District 95; Rep. Roberta Muse, District 97; and Senator David Hastings, District 13.

Candidates for county offices were Norm Ferguson, county treasurer; Cauldie Jackson, county commissioner and Chris Wainwright, sheriff.

Other noted guests were Erion Jones, chairman, Oxford County Republican Committee, Dr. Stanley Howe, Rosemary Butler, and Becky Kendall, Republican State Committee members.

More than one-hundred other guests were there to enjoy the afternoon with former Senate President Rick Bennett serving as master of ceremonies of the "Arrivederci Baldacci" gala.

Headquarters Grand Opening

The Oxford County Republican Committee will be holding a grand opening for their headquarters on Sept. 6 at 4 p.m. The headquarters are located at 150 Main Street in South Paris, next to Agren Appliance.

Refreshments will be served, and many local Republican officials will be on hand. Also present will be Rep. Josh Tardy from Newport, who will be speaking at this event.

The Republicans will be maintaining regular office hours after Labor Day through Election Day.

From Oxford County Democrats

The annual Oxford County Democrats Summer BBQ and Family Fun Day was held on Sunday, Aug. 27, at the Maine Conservation School attended by a capacity crowd that welcomed Governor John Baldacci, Congressman Michaud, U.S. Senate candidate Jean Hay Bright, and many legislative leaders, local candidates and Democrats.

State Rep. Bob Duplessie, a member of the Board of the Maine Conservation School, welcomed the group to the facility, and announced that the school would be celebrating its 50th anniversary in October. The kitchen staff of the school served an excellent lunch of hamburgers and hot dogs, salads, and strawberry shortcake.

Treasurer Mike Broderick announced that the event set a new record for the County Committee for a single event and that the list of hosts for the gathering released in the past few weeks had received a number of additions including Matt Dunlap, David Lamoine, Sam Spencer, Jeff Mills, Hillary Ware, Francis Kieliszek and Meg Mineweaser.

Offering remarks to the group were Congressman Mike Michaud, introduced by Marge Medd, state Senate candidate in District 13; U.S. Senate candidate Jean Hay Bright, introduced by Roy Gedat; House Majority Leader Glenn Cummings, introduced by Terry Hayes; Attorney General Steve Rowe, introduced by Wayne Gallant, candidate for Sheriff, and Governor John Baldacci, introduced by Senator Bruce Bryant, District 14. Rep. Cummings introduced House candidates Tim Carter, District 91; Reggie Arsenault, District 93; and Marlee Turner, District 97. Mike Broderick introduced State Party Chair Ben Dudley and Vice-chair Marianne Stevens. Tim Carter presented bags of fresh sweet corn to the speakers, and Lynn Duplessie was the winner of a Mystery Raffle, consisting of a selection of campaign buttons and an empty can of Billy Beer from the Carter era. Morrill Nason, of Hartford, was the winner of DEMOCRATS GATHER AT CONSERVATION SCHOOL—The Annual Oxford County Democrats Summer BBQ and Family Fun Day took place Sunday at the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond. Attending were Gov. the 50-50 raffle.

In other news, Brownfield selectperson Cynthia Willetts held a candidates reception for Marge Medd, Marlee Turner and Wayne Gallant at her home in Brownfield on Saturday, Aug. 26. Lynn Baker will be holding a candidates reception at her home on Plummer Hill Road in Waterford on Sunday, Sept. 10, with Sen. Bruce Bryant, House candidate Roy Gedat, County Treasurer Mary Ann Prue, and Wayne Gallant, sheriff candidate, attending. State Rep. John Patrick will be hosting the annual River Valley Democrats BBQ on Sunday, Sept. 17, in Rumford. Congressman Michaud and Governor Baldacci will be attending, along with legislative and county candidates.

Products in West Paris to see how they make their fragrant balsam products and shop into their new retail store. Also from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., all are welcome to travel on Route 2 east toward Rumford, where you will find the fantastic Maine Artisans Wood Gallery. Woodturning demonstrations will be ongoing and shopping in their gallery a wonderful option. At some point, grab a quick lunch in one of the fine Bethel area eating establishments and then gather at Hancock Lumber on Route 26 at 1 p.m. for a one-hour tour starting promptly at 1:15. Those wishing to attend this are encouraged to park next to the railroad tracks in the designated lot.

At 3:30 p.m. the owners of Timberlake's Home Store on the Mayville Road in Bethel will host an open studio, explaining the process of making their renowned Shaker Furniture and other wood products. They will also have a raffle for a dinner for two at the Rooster's Roadhouse, just across the road. From 5 to 6 p.m., all are invited to the Rooster's Roadhouse for a wine and cheese reception and the drawing of that dinner for two. What a great day of informative tours!

And don't forget to travel around the area to view the terrific scarecrows that are decorating the area residences, businesses and gateways. The scarecrow theme is "Community Spirit."

The morning of Sept. 16 will bring the ninth annual Harvest Fest on to the Bethel Common.

The arts and crafts festival will begin at 9 a.m. More than 40 crafters and farmers are expected to fill the common with their unique products and harvest items. At 11:30 a.m., the chamber will begin to sell tickets for the much anticipated and very popular Chowdah Cook-off. A solid turnout is expected from Bethel area restaurants and invitees from a 35-mile radius. This event is not to be missed!

At the fourth annual Apple Pie Contest, where both professional pastry chefs and talented home bakers are encouraged to enter, three categories will be judged: amateur traditional crust pie, amateur non-traditional crust pie and professional pie. Gift certificates for the Good Food Store will be awarded to the winner in each category.

Plan to enjoy wonderful music performed on the gazebo by Denny Breau and friends from 11 a.m. through the mid-afternoon; so bring your lawn chair and, once the shopping and eating is done, relax and enjoy these talented musicians. The music is being sponsored by Allen's Coffee Brandy.

Free horse-drawn wagon rides through Bethel Village will be provided from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., compliments of Oxford Networks.

We also plan to have local chainsaw carver, Steve Stone, demonstrating this fascinating craft, sponsored by Hancock Lumber. Everything on the Common will wrap up by 4 p.m., so plan to patronize our area merchants and restaurants, some of which will be holding open houses, special events and harvest meals at their respective establishments.

A new feature to the Harvest Fest this year is a spectacular display and demonstration brought to us by the Northern Forest Center called "Ways of the Woods." This extensive exhibit will be set up behind the Bethel Firehouse for the duration of the festival and all are welcomed.

Back by popular demand is the scenic bicycle tour led by Dillon Gillies on Sunday morning, Sept. 17. Participants will have their choice of a 10-mile tour, or continue on to a longer ride of up to 25 miles. Plan to meet at the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce office at 9 a.m. for beverages and snacks before cycling.

For more information, contact the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce at 824-2282.

From

Whitman Memorial Library

The monthly programs at Whitman Memorial Library in Bryant Pond will begin again on Thursday, Sept. 14, at 10 a.m. Nancy Draper of Bridgton will be the guest speaker and will be talking about her book, "A Burden of Silence — My Mother's Battle with AIDS." Since her mother's death from AIDS, contracted through a blood transfusion, Draper has been very active in making the public aware of this disease.

She gave the keynote address at Timberlane Regional High School in Plaistow, N.H. She has spoken on TV and radio. She has been involved with the Project AIDS Memorial Quilt and has been in Washington D.C. She also speaks on caregiving and dealing with adversity. She hopes to reach young and old alike. Come and join us for an emotional and informative meeting.

There is no charge and all are welcome.

From

Bethel Historical Society's Regional History Center

At the annual meeting of the Bethel Historical Society, to be held on Thursday, Sept. 14, newly drafted and expanded bylaws will be voted on to replace the old constitution and bylaws dating back with a few later modifications to 1971. The new bylaws were developed by a committee consisting of President Allen Cressy, trustees Grace McKivergan and Walter Hatch, past trustee William Andrews and Executive Director Stan Howe over the past year. Following a full Board of Trustee review, they were mailed several weeks ago as a supplement to The Courier to all members of the society for their review and consideration at the annual meeting.

Generally these bylaws embody many of the provisions from the previous documents, but do specify that the individual elected society president will also become the chair of the Board of Trustees. In developing this new document, the committee was influenced by sample bylaws from the American Association of Museums and ones from several large Maine historical organizations. The new bylaws also include several clauses not previously present in the old governing documents, including sections dealing with prohibited activities, conflict of interest, and the fiscal year.

The business meeting where the proposed bylaws will be considered will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 14 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House. The annual meeting will be preceded by the annual chicken barbecue which may be held on the grounds of the Dr. Mason House weather permitting. Those attending the barbecue are requested to bring either a salad or dessert.

The program will feature a slide show reviewing the past forty years of the society's existence by Executive Director Stanley R. Howe.

With nearly 1,400 members, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For 40 years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. In 1974, the society acquired the former Broad Street residence of Dr. Moses Mason, which now contains a period house museum, exhibit hall and research library. In 1999, the society opened the O'Neil Robinson House to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

Further information about the society and its activities may be obtained by calling 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910, or by sending an e-mail to info@bethelhistorical.org. Additional information can also be obtained by checking the society's website at www.bethelhistorical.org.

BOHRS CELEBRATE 60TH

Gwyneth and Ken Bohr celebrated 60 years of marriage June 8. In the month of June the Crockers gave a small party for them and the Congregational Church had a cake to honor this grand occasion. All of their family gathered for a reunion at Lakewood Camps on Lower Richardson Lake and surprised them with a celebration of their anniversary. Family members came from Florida, Ohio, New York City, Massachusetts, California and Connecticut. When asked what was the secret of such a long marriage, Gwyneth quipped, "Both of us didn't want to leave the marriage at the same time."

Listings in The Citizen's weekly Community Calendar are compiled from a wide variety of sources. While we do our utmost to ensure the reliability of the information presented here, we recognize that when dealing with such a large volume of material, some inaccuracies will occasionally creep in. And in other cases, a sponsoring organization's plans may change between the time The Citizen is printed and the event is held. Accordingly, we strongly urge our readers to call ahead to verify the details of any event they plan to attend. Doing so will greatly reduce the chance of disappointment or needless inconvenience.

MLS 801846 WEST PARIS. Cozy and efficient. This neighborhood home is a terrific buy! Two bedrooms and two extra rooms that have been used as bedrooms. Enjoy this lovely location convenient to all in-town amenities. Established perennials decorate the grounds and delight the taste buds. Enjoy your own raspberries, blackberries and high bush blueberries. It's the porch that will win your heart. This is a must see! $124,900

MLS 798666 PARIS HILL. Gracious 1920's home overlooking the 1st fairway of the Paris Hill Golf Course. Master suite on first floor, finished basement (bedroom and 1/2 bath), additional sleeping quarters upstairs. Recent major addition (16x24) to the rear of the home offers a spacious living area, a deck and full view of the beautifully groomed lawn. Roof and furnace replaced within the last 3-4 years. The area itself offers a multitude of recreational opportunities. The home is ideal for year round or as a summer/winter getaway. $179,900. Special Seller Promotion: Buyer will receive a one-year membership for two at the Paris Hill Country Club (good through 2007 season) PLUS an electric golf cart (incl. paid-for trail fee).

MLS # 806968 NORWAY. ROW to private beach, near skiing and golf resorts. Multi-level contemporary in a natural wooded setting, rock wall boundaries, several decks to enjoy the solitude. Small association community. Architecturally interesting - the main floor of the home is primarily open concept. Open balcony opens to a comfortable living/sitting area on the second floor. A full walk-out basement begs the idea of possibly adding to the existing living space. Monitor heat/ashleigh wood stove, drilled well, septic. Suited for year round living or as a four season getaway. $249,900

OXFORD. Wonderful Country Contemporary - Post and Beam. This passive solar, energy efficient home was custom designed by a local artist and sits on 11.5 acres of mixed woodlands. Very well insulated / double-pane Pella wood windows. Plenty of storage. Open concept living, dining and kitchen area. Lots of natural light. All wood cabinetry including built-in bookshelves and specialty cabinets. Perennial gardens and several lilacs, roses and Forsythia. Clearing behind the house has raised bed vegetable gardens. Trails throughout the property. All around a property to fall in love with. $264,900

REAL ESTATE MATCHMAKERS

When you list your house with a Realtor who participates in the Multiple Listing Service (MLS), you get a lot of service for your money. Depending upon the MLS region, there may be hundreds of participating members.

The Realtor who lists your home works to get it sold. This is done by marketing directly to home buyers, but an even more powerful tool is marketing your home to other agents who have buyers. Your Realtor makes all the crucial information about your home available to the other members through the MLS, such as location, size, the number of rooms, the style of architecture, what personal property is included, and any other special features. The MLS description will also contain information about any special financing that might be available, showing instructions, and special needs you may have with respect to closing. It is a powerful tool for real estate matchmakers.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

Obituaries

MARION L. KIMBALL

Marion L. Kimball, 82, of Albany Township, died peacefully on Friday, Aug. 25, 2006, at Market Square Nursing Home, South Paris.

She was born in West Paris on May 14, 1924, the daughter of Frank and Beatrice (Brown) Osgood.

In Memory of Our Beloved Herb Kittredge

Even tho time goes by, you are missed and loved every day. Never forgotten never replaced, Your love and laughter lives on in our hearts.

Sadly missed by wife Ruth Kittredge, Children Walter, Patricia and Kathy, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

She married Floyd Kimball on June 15, 1945.

She worked at Kendall's Mill in West Bethel, Pineland Hospital in Gray, and 20 years at the Yokohama Restaurant in Gorham, N.H., as a meat cutter.

She was a wonderful mother, grandmother, and great-grandmother, and loved to visit and talk with all her many friends and family.

Marion is survived by her son, Kenneth Newell of Albany; three daughters, Bertha Tyler and companion George Bradley of Gilead, Mildred McAllister and companion Charles Coffin of Waterford, Linda Rolfe and husband Gibby of Albany; a stepson, George Kimball; a stepdaughter, Kate Gordon of Albany; two brothers, Chester Osgood and wife Carolyn of Waterford, Francis Osgood and wife Lillian of Berlin, N.H., nine grandchildren; 19 great-grandchildren; two great-great-grandchildren.

She was predeceased by her husband, Floyd Kimball, in 1952; a half brother, George Brown; a half sister, Dot Bennett; a sister, Flossie Aubin; and

In Loving Memory of

Robert C. Cary

Dec. 30, 1933 - Sept. 2, 1965

Helvi

two brothers, Robert Osgood and Walter Osgood; a stepson, Floyd Kimball II; and a grandson, Richard Hutchins.

Funeral services will be held Friday, Sept. 1, at 11 a.m. at the Songo Pond Cemetery in Albany, with a gathering to follow at the Bethel Methodist Church, Main Street, Bethel.

Donations may be made in Marion's memory to The Songo Pond Cemetery Association, c/o Norma Salway, P.O. Box 245, Bethel, ME 04217.

DR. LEVI SHERWIN

Dr. Levi Sherwin, 86, died Saturday, Aug. 26, 2006 at his home in Rumbold. He was a resident of Oxford Avenue in Rumbold.

Born in Orange, Mass., on April 30, 1920, he was a son of Arthur and Elva (Wright) Sherwin. He was a graduate of Orange High School in Orange, Mass., and Lincoln Chiropractic College in Indianapolis, Ind.

He started practicing Chiropractic in Rumbold in 1944 and he retired in 1982. He was a member of the Maine Chiropractic Association.

He was married in Bethel on Aug. 21, 1949 to Gwendolyn Poland, who survives of Rumbold. Other survivors include a son, David and his wife Maureen of Litchfield, N.H.; and two grandsons, Eric and Gregory Sherwin of Litchfield, N.H. He was predeceased by a sister, Sarah Sherwin.

The family extends special thanks to Dr. Kreckel and Androscoggin Home Care and Hospice for their exceptional care and guidance during this difficult time. A special thank you to Tammy Bean for all your many thoughtful deeds to make Levi's life so peaceful during his last few months.

Funeral services will be private and held at the family's convenience. Interment will be in the Greenleaf Cemetery, Milton. Those who desire may contribute to Androscoggin Home Health Care and Hospice, 284 Maine Street, Suite 290, Wilton, ME 04294 in his memory. Online condolences and shared memories may be expressed at meaderfh@gwi.net.

HERBERT 'HERB' LYON

Herbert "Herb" Lyon of Bethel passed away on Aug. 29, 2006 at his home, with Beverly at his side. He fought a courageous battle with lung cancer for the last nine months.

Herb was born on Nov. 9, 1928 in Bethel to Harry and Mildred (Hapgood) Lyon.

He served in the U.S. Army from 1948 to 1952 in the Korean War and Japan Occupation. He received the Combat Inf. Badge, Korean Svc Medal and was awarded one Silver Star for heroism in combat and the President's Union Citation.

When he returned home, he went to work at Brooks Bros. peddling oil, and stayed with them for a "short" 50 years.

He started his apple orchard on 15 acres, now 800 trees strong, with only half of the dozen original trees remaining now that he originally started with. His orchard consists of 90 percent McIntosh and the rest Cortlands.

Herb loved baseball and the Boston Red Sox, which he was lucky enough to have seen win the World Series in 2004. Baseball was a love right from the start of his son Jeff's little life. Herb coached him through Little League and Legion baseball.

He also served with many great friends on the Bethel Fire Department.

Close friend "Sonny" and friends of Brooks Bros. days will long remember Herb as hosting the double 6-pack parties after work and on Grover Hill.

He will be missed in the orchard, as he worked seven days a week loving and taking care of his apples and taking in the beautiful views at his home. He will be sadly missed by hundreds of friends in the area.

Survivors include his longtime companion, Beverly Warner; daughter, Brenda of North Conway, N.H.; son, Jeffrey of North Carolina; five grandchildren, Karter, Kyle, Katlin, Kallie and Ava; sister, Libby Bane of Bethel; brother, Richard of New Brunswick, N.J.; Beverly's children, Dan of Rumbold, Susan of West Paris, and Greg and Colleen of Bethel. His parents, sisters Eleanor and Audrey Ann, and brother Harry Edward predeceased him.

Visiting hours will be Saturday, Sept. 2, from 2 to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. at Greenleaf Funeral Home, 37 Vernon Street, Bethel. Funeral services will be held at the Bethel Alliance Church at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 3. Burial will be at Riverside Cemetery in Bethel. In lieu of flowers, please send donations in Herb's memory to the Bethel Recreation Board for the Little League Baseball, c/o Scott Brown, 88 Barker Road, Bethel, ME 04217.
